cases is used for shorter lines of text.

This is an example of Salesforce Sans typed out in a sentence. The font is designed to work well as body copy and pair nicely with Avant Garde Demi.

Accessibility

Our template has been made with accessibility in mind. Please follow these guidelines to make sure your content is accessible to everyone.

Text contrast

Standards require a color contrast ratio of at least 4.5:1 for normal text and 3:1 for large text. Refer to www.aremymcoloursaccessible.com to test and ensure text and informational icons have a sufficient contrast ratio against their background.

Font size

Avoid fonts smaller than 14pt (16pt recommended).

If you need smaller text, consider breaking your slide into two.

Text and images

Do not place text over nonsolid or textured images

Using color

Avoid using color as the sole means to convey information.

Add a text label to graphs that use color for status.

Add alternative text to informational images

Include alternative text for images, drawings, and other graphics. Otherwise, screen reader users just hear “image.”

Some images automatically include alt text, so it’s a good idea to verify that this automatic alt text is what you want.

Reference instructions to add alternative text (ppt).

Use informative link text

Screen readers can scan for links, so informative link text is helpful. It’s best to use page content as the linked text.

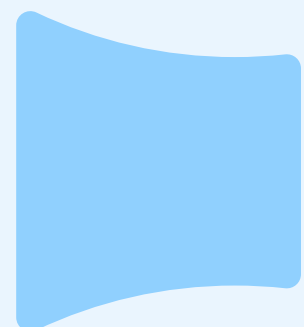

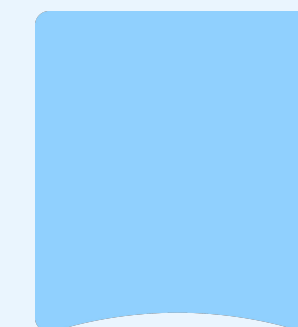

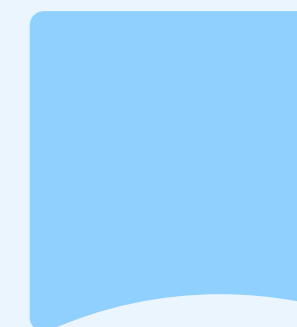

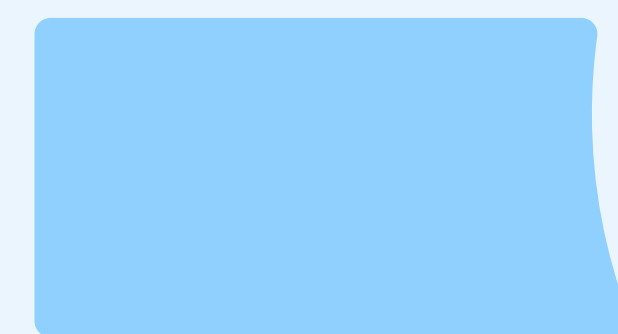

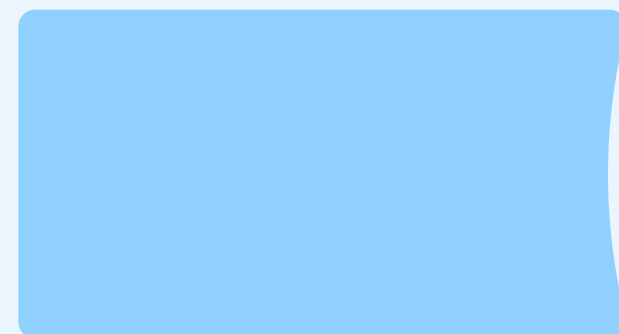

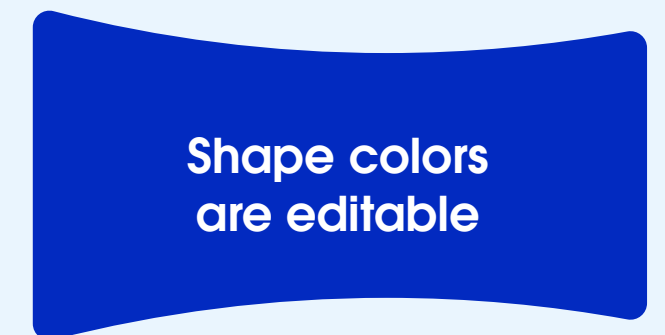

For example, if you’re linking to your profile page, the link text should say “my profile,” not “click here” or the full URL.

Panoramas

The panorama creates a sense of depth and orbit around the viewer – especially when brought to life through motion. Because it's a strong visual, the panorama should be used selectively, reserved for key moments that require distinction and emphasis. Avoid overusing this shape to preserve its impact.

Shadow treatment

When a white container sits on a white or a light blue background, a drop shadow needs to be applied to the container.
